THE arrangement of the second volume of the Annual Bibliography of Islamic Art and Archaeology closely follows that of the first and, therefore, needs no explanation. The only change is the introduction of a short chapter, "Survey of Monuments", which will probably be welcomed by those who have a special interest in this field and prefer to find the relevant items listed conveniently in one paragraph rather than scattered amongst the various chapters dealing with architecture, historical geography and excavations. In spite of my endeavour to give all foreign titles in their original script and language, a few Russian titles about which I had only second-hand information still appear in Western garb. I hope that in the next volume all titles will be uniform in this respect.

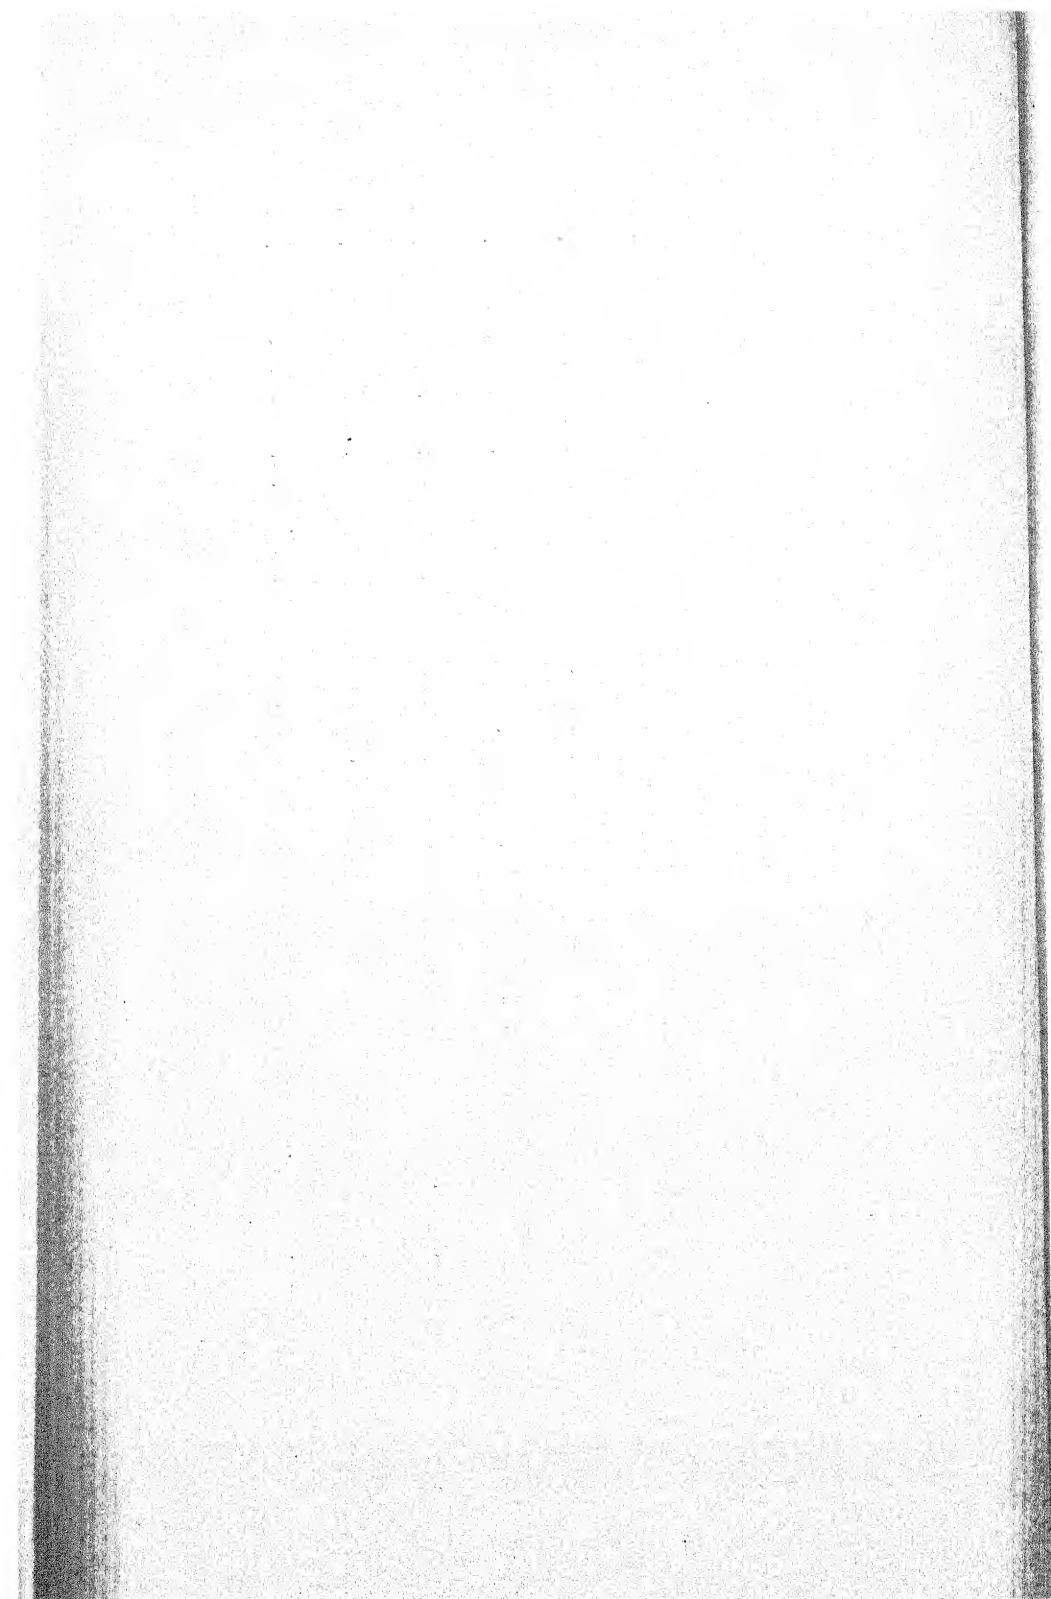

I am very grateful to all those who expressed criticism or offered suggestions — either in print or in private letters — with regard to the first volume. This year again, the Governments of Iran and Turkey have put me under an obligation by sending me relevant material. At the same time I wish to reiterate my thanks to all those who, following my appeal last year, sent me or called my attention to their work. May many more follow their example!
